... And Now Tomorrow

The present conflict which rages abroad in the world must bring about many unforeseen changes in the lives of both American and world citizens. Today we gaze before us into the mist which veils the future and make vain attempts to pierce the engulfing haze. However, unable in our efforts to see what a more modern age holds in store, we can only imagine the differences which the war will bring to our civilization. Thus, ever mindful of our changing way of life, we have selected as the theme for the 1944 Black and Gold—our future.

To a fine breed and a swell girl.

REYNOLDS HI PLAYERS

The Dramatic Club, which has proved to be one of the most outstanding organizations of Reynolds High School, strives to present to the school good entertainment, sometimes on a serious basis, sometimes along a lighter vein, that will provide pleasure and enjoyment for the student body and faculty. The plays presented by the club are productions by the students and for the students, and those who take part put forth their best efforts to impart as much pleasure to their audience as they themselves receive while preparing the plays for presentation.

It was felt that in order to work better and more efficiently, the Dramatic Club should limit its membership to those who had had previous experience. Thus, to attain this end, Mrs. Margaret McDermott, the club's capable and progressive advisor, and a committee invited a group of specially selected students to become members.

The club meets on Thursday mornings to discuss and rehearse various plays. During the first semester of the past year, the following students served as officers: Pat Kelly, president; Marjorie Patten, vice-president; Peggy Wingate, secretary; Bill English, treasurer. In the second semester, Betty McCall replaced Peggy Wingate as secretary. During the previous year, the Dramatic Club has presented three plays: The Cornhusk Doll, The Teeth of the Gift Horse, and They Did Away With Uncle.

As a further incentive to those who belong to the Dramatic Club, the Dramatic Honor Society was organized in 1939 by Mrs. Marjorie Stephenson. In order to become a member, one must maintain a "B" subject average and an "A" on deportment. He must have shown definite acting ability and must have starred in one major role of a long play or two major roles of short plays. The candidate for membership must at some time have worked backstage with either properties, make-up, or stage management and direction. In addition to these credits he must possess qualities of leadership, scholarship, and character and must show a pleasure in all work. The present members are Christine Morris, Pat Kelly, and Charles Gibson.

When the group decides to produce a play, the play is selected by the faculty sponsor and a committee, and try-outs are announced to the student body. After various students have read the parts for which they wish to compete, the best readers are chosen for the cast and notified of their selection. Rehearsal begins immediately, and capable back-stage workers are appointed to attend to the many and varied duties which lay the foundation for a successful play. The finished product as it is presented to the audience is the result of diligent work by the students and adult director, and due credit should be given to all those who give the best of their time and efforts to make dramatic programs enjoyable.

BOYS MONOGRAM CLUB

The Boys Monogram Club is an organization founded for the boys of Reynolds High who have won letters in one of the five major sports: football, baseball, basketball, track, or tennis.

This club, under its constitution, strives to better the school, to increase high ideals of sportsmanship, to sponsor worthy activities, and to provide a medium of association between the student body and the athletic teams.

The officers elected for the first semester were the following: Norman Whiteheart, president; Jimmy Gibson, vice-president; Lee Smith, secretary; Bill Masten, treasurer. These officers served only one semester, since they were not eligible for election the next semester as was provided in the constitution.

The last half of the year Harry Horton served as president; Louis Baldwin, as vice-president; Perry Lefeavers, as secretary; Eddie Butler, as treasurer.

The student body and all of the Monogram Club look forward every year to the annual initiation of the new members by the old. The initiates are required to wear funny clothing and often ribbons in their hair. They are completely in the hands of the old members, and during the day many humorous situations occur.

On January 7, the Monogram Club presented its annual chapel program, this year the entertainment was based on different Bible characters, each boy giving a short sketch of the character's life, and the audience was given ten seconds in which to guess the person portrayed. Those boys participating in the program were the following: Harry Horton, Norman Whiteheart, Jim Gibson, Perry Lefeavers, Bob Cash, Edward Baity, Madison Spach, Tom Joyce, Tom Chambers, and Bill Ball.

Another of the highlighted activities of the Boys Monogram Club was the informal dance which was presented March 25.

Shortly before the dance all members of the club donated into a general fund and gave a party at the cabin of Paul Pegram. Everyone brought some kind of food and music was provided by a specially appointed committee.

No sketch of the Boys Monogram Club would be complete without mention of their able and devoted sponsor, Mr. Joby Hawn, who has done so much to keep the boys interested and doing worthwhile things.

Distributive Education

Distributive Education provides vocational training for the field of distribution. Juniors and Seniors, preferably the latter, who are sixteen years old, receive technical and general training in classes especially patterned to give practical knowledge for "in-store" jobs. Trainees spend a part of each day in a local store where managers and department heads further the training toward permanent employment after graduation. Extension training for "in-store" personnel is also a part of the community program.

REYNOLDS PROPHECY OF THE CLASS OF 1944

Time: 1975

Characters: Frankie and Johnnie
Scene: Frankie's living room.

Frankie: (Entering with vacuum cleaner and singing) "Mairzy doats 'n dozy doats." O, I'm gettin' darned tired of that song. I simply adore this noiseless sweeper that the Simpson and Kempton Kwicky Kwiet Vacuum Cleaner Co. just turned out. And that radar attachment developed by Professor Marilyn Booth would sure come in handy. With it I could tell in an instant if my maid has swept under the carpets. Well, I don't suppose Sweetiepie would buy me one, but I guess I can do without it since I don't have a maid anyhow. (Door chimes sound offstage)

Frankie: Gracious, I bet that's that cat Johnnie. I've never seen anybody gossip as much as he does. (Opens door) Come in, Johnnie darling. I'm so glad to see you. I was just thinking about you.

Johnnie (entering and removing hat): I was on my way uptown to buy a new hat at Nellie Chance's Fashion Shop, and I thought I'd just drop by for a second.

Frankie: Well, I'm so glad you did. Mercy, you must get your breakfast dishes done in a hurry with your new Shakem Brakem Dish Washer patented by Ronald Frazier.

Johnnie: Yes, that does help, but my housework is just killing me these days. I have to get up every morning at four-thirty to get the old battle-axe off to her welding job at the Pfaff Shipyards which have been recognized for their speedy work in solving the manpower shortage. Then there's sweeping, dusting, scrubbing, and Junior to watch. I just hate housework. I knew we were letting those women go too far back in 1944.

Frankie: You are absolutely right, darling. Ralph Stockton is having trouble too; Sophia won't give him half enough money to run the house. But talking about Pfaff's shipyards, wasn't Peqqy an old classmate of ours?

Johnnie: Yes, she was. And say, I saw just the other day that the annual dance of the Gus Grimes' Garden Club will be held at the Country Club again this year. Bill Ball's orchestra won't play this time, though, because they were able to get a big name band—Jodie Hire's Off-key Killer-dillers.

Frankie: O, fine. Isn't that the band that features Dick Plaster and vocalist Lib Mullis? I just love her recording of "My Feet Tell Me" that Paul Hine and Lelia Ann Graham arranged. By the way, there will be an exhibition tennis match this afternoon at the club between Don "Red" Cash and Bill Tilden Baity, the famous racket slingers. And speaking of slinging, where did you get that new hair-do, deary?

Johnnie: At Norman Stallings' Beauty Salon managed by Tom Chambers. While I was getting a mudpack from Bill Poole up came Lee Smith, the finger-wave expert, with some really rare gossip. And I want you to know the barber, Petey Thomas, had the nerve to make some sarcastic remarks about us men talking behind people's backs.

Frankie: No! Well, I get my hair done there too, but they don't make me look like a wet pekinese.

Johnnie: Thanks, darling. And talking about movies, did you see "For Whom the Draft Calls?"

Frankie: Yes, weren't Betty Jane Adams and Bill English superb? The news reel showed Gerald Brummitt and Kenneth Moser running as Republican choice for president and vice-president against Roosevelt. And it showed Peggy Clemmer, Mildred King, and Margaret Childress, the Galloping Poll's selection for the three outstanding women athletes of the year. They were presented with a year's supply of Madison's Mixture for Muscle Manufacturing.

Johnnie: Speaking of muscles, remember Tom Joyce, Dick Saunders, and Harry Horton? Well, they're running Tom, Dick, and Harry's Modeling Agency now. Some of their models went to school with us back at Reynolds High. There's Peggy Blum, Lorna Alice Angel, Margaret Newman, Mopsy Poole, and Mary Ann Cromer. And Betty Myers was on the front of this month's "Riveter's Gazette". This is the magazine that's put out by Hoyle "Scoop" Schultz and Helen "Droop" Gordy and carries Catherine Butler's mystery serial, "The Missing Ring or Who Washed the Bathtub?"

Frankie: Oh, yes, I wouldn't miss a single installment of that. And by the way I cut out the best recipe from the paper the other day. I thought Sweetiepie was going to have a hemorrhage just because it was on the back of the sports page. (Goes to table) Here it is. It's for making wonderful upside-down cream puffs that Betty McCall experimented with in her E-Z Electronix Kitchen.

Johnnie: Yes, I saw that too, but I'm so tired of cooking. I wish I could get a job in the new helicopter plant that Tom Boyette has opened up. It's a fine place to work. Sarah Jane White and Hilda Folger got jobs there as soon as they had heard that Bill Shore was personnel manager. They tell me that Bill Frankie: I heard that too. But I'd rather work at the Mackie, von Borries, Prongay, and Smith Ten-cent Television Plant. They give every employee a non-skid yo-yo that's endorsed by the world's yo-yo champion, Perry Lefeavers.

Johnnie: My. what a wonderful offer. I think I'll go down there right now and apply for a job.

Frankie: I will too! Come on. My Pappas pogo stick is right outside.

Johnnie: Wait a minute. What'll our wives say if we don't get back and fix supper?

Frankie: I don't care. I've had enough of Sweetipie's brutal fussing. I'm going home to Father. I won't work my fingers to the bone being a good house-husband for any ungrateful wife. This is The End! (Exeunt)

REYNOLDS HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 1944

A history making class—that's an apt description of our class of '44.

From the time of our enrollment we were making hot copy for our Pine Whispers staff. Black headlines screamed "Largest Freshman Class in Reynolds History". We numbered 423 lost souls—timid, wondering, gawking, green freshmen. That cocksure attitude of know-it-all-ity was a bluff; we were plain dumb and about as confident as a kitten in quicksand.

Our sponsor, Miss Dobson, steered us onto safe ground by lectures about the way to become "A" students and school leaders. We listened serene in wisdom until we began to flounder in the fog of confusion caused by "amo, amas, amat" and "x times y equals z." Ignorance should be bliss in comparison.

We elected Dick Plaster our representative on the Council and Ralph Simpson our class president. Madison Spach began a successful career of school leadership by being elected treasurer of the entire student body.

We continued our history-making progress by being the first class to skip the ninth grade; this lapse from the eight to the tenth grade was due to the addition of a twelfth year of high school. However, we were, as all classes before us, raised from the gutter of freshman humiliation to the heights of sophomore wisdom.

History continued to unroll her fateful scroll as harsh radio reports blared: "War! Japs Bomb Pearl Harbor!" on "December seventh, a date that will live in infamy." Mr. Joyner, realizing the eventfulness of the time, ushered a solemn student body into our familiar auditorium to hear a kind-faced, silver-haired old man ask Congress for a declaration of war upon the Japanese Empire. His plea was unnecessary; by declaration of a vindictive Congress, we were a country at war.

A secluded, yet integral part of a country arming itself for battle, we were guided through our own petty problems by Dick Plaster, president; William Benbow, vice-president; Helen Gordon, secretary; Pat Kelly, treasurer; Pfohla Wilmoth and Dick Plaster, 'council representatives.

Did we continue to make history as juniors? At least we thought we had more fun than any other class; football games, basketball contests, Harmony Hangouts, dances—we never heard of work.

By this time we were quite prominent in school affairs. William Benbow was secretary of the student body; on the council were Pfohla Wilmoth and Madison Spach. Junior lettermen were Lee Smith, Paul Walker, Edward Baity, Bob Cash, and Norman Stallings.

Those inducted into the Honor Society for their leadership qualities were Marilynn, Booth, Peggy Jane Blum, Mary Ann Cromer, Hilda Folger, Helen Gordon, Nancy Linville, Betty McCall, Emily von Borries, Sarah Jane White, Madison Spach, Pfohla Wilmoth, Bill Shore, Paul Hine, Pat Kelly, and Charles Gibson.

Six juniors donned the black Quill and Scroll robes: Pat Kelly, Charles Gibson, Hoyle Schultz, Sarah Jane White, Helen Gordon, and Hilda Folger.

Our class officers were as follows: Madison Spach, president; Martha Anne Poole, vice-president; and Edward Baity, secretary-treasurer.

Ah! Valhalla! the goal of every humble freshman is secured; we are seniors—seniors in dignity, seniors in knowledge, seniors in pride. Our own maturity seemed intensified by the sight of hundreds of mere infants creeping through the corridors; these "children" were members of the newly added eighth grade.

Our senior voyage was piloted by Tom Chambers, president; Lee Smith, vice-president; Anne Southern, secretary; and Helen Gordon, treasurer.

Our senior year was a year of school leadership—leadership in all activities. Prominent in school government were Tom Joyce, president of student body; Madison Spach, vice-president; Bill Ball, speaker of House of Representatives; Norman Whiteheart, Norman Stallings, Lola Jean Yoder, and Pfohla Wilmoth; council members.

members were inducted into the Honor Society: Anne Davis, Sophia Bowen, Margaret Newman, Lulu Hall Vance, Evelyn Criner, Doris Lee Hancock, Betty Alspaugh, Ralph Simpson, Bill Speas, Tom Moore, Betty Jean Holleman, Edward Baity, Jack Mackie, Ralph Stockton, Gerald Brummitt, and Catherine Butler.

During a good sport season outstanding athletes were Peggy Clemmer, Elizabeth Mullis, Peggy Blum, Tom Joyce, Tom Chambers, Norman Whiteheart, Bill Ball, Tom Boyette, and Harry Horton.

The parting of the ways is drawing near; all members of the class of '44 are looking to newer, broader horizons—college, army, V-12, air force, employment, travel. But whatever road he takes, every member of this class will have a common bond with those he leaves behind—the bond of four years companionship.

He may look back with pride on a class of leaders—the class of '44.

REYNOLDS LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF THE CLASS OF 1944

We, the graduating class of R. J. Reynolds High School, being of sound mind (?) and good health, do hereby make, bequeath, and publish this, our Last Will and Testament, in order to bestow upon the less fortunate whom we leave behind our worthless but coveted possessions.

ARTICLE I

Section I: To our principal, Mr. Joyner, and all teachers we leave our sincere appreciation for their diligent efforts to reform us.

Section II: To Miss Doris Voss, our big sister, we leave our devoted thanks for all the rough spots she has helped us slide over.

Section III: To Miss Kreeger and Miss Trotter, our faithful librarians, we render our most humble apologies for our bad behavior in hopes that the social activities will not be discontinued in the library.

Section IV: To the juniors, we leave our numerous senior privileges received for good behavior. (maybe that's why we don't have any.)

ARTICLE II

Section I: Kenneth Moser (better known as Kennie-pie) leaves his way with women and radiant personality to William Benbow.

Section II: Betty Myers gives all her glamour and beauty to Clara Jean Cooke.

Section III: Madison Spach and Tom Joyce will their super plus personalities and popularity to Bob Dalton and Doug Berger.

Section IV: Peggy Clemmer and Tom Boyette bequeath their outstanding athletic abilities to Jodie Brimhall and Eddie Butler.

Section V: Charles "Squirt" Gibson leaves his "gift of the gab" to all bashful undergraduates since there is plenty to go around.

Section VI: Eddie Palmgren and James Burgess leave their ability to dodge cars and telephone poles at 80 m. p. h. to anyone reckless enough to try it.

Section VII: The Hornee Club hands down its record of scalping and date crashing to any organization ruthless enough to start the practice.

Section VIII: Ronald "Rollo" Frazier wills his No. 9 stomping grounds to all whom it may concern.

Section IX: Lee Smith leaves his abundance of curly hair to Charles Donahoo in hopes that he may some day have a wavy wig.

Section X: Lorna Alice Angel bequeaths her popularity and ways to attract men to Molly Ferrell.

Section XI: Bill "Harry James" Ball and Bill "Charlie Spivak" Shore leave their ability to swing it to the next in line.

Section XII: The ideal swoon-crooner, Robert Bowers, leaves his well groomed hair (?) and curly whiskers (?) to Richard Ashburn, since he would look delightful in this condition.

Section XIII: Last, but not least, Helen Gordon and Pat Kelly leave their outstanding journalism work and oratorical success to Jimmy Fain and Marjorie Patten.

We hereby appoint our teacher and friend, Miss Gladys Moore, sole executor of this, our Last Will and Testament.

In Witness Whereof, we, the Senior Class of 1944 do set our seal, this twenty-ninth day of May, nineteen hundred and forty-four.

GRAY PROPHECY OF THE CLASS OF 1944

Dorothy Wooten

"Extra! Local Sherlock Holmes solves mystery! Read all about it! Case of the missing class of '44 from Gray High School!"

That was the cry of the little red-headed newsboy, Bill Carruthers, Jr., so I had to have a copy. (Opens paper and reads) Listen to these headlines! "Audree Long, famous detective, solves the mysterious disappearance of the 1944 Gray graduates." That mastermind says that the solution may be found in the personals, the special columns and the advertisements of this special number, too. Isn't that just like Audree—making us read the paper from cover to cover to find the entire solution!

This is my afternoon off from library work, so I'll lose no time finding out what has happened to my former classmates.

What do you know about this? "Johnson Wins Election! Bill Johnson is new mayor of Winston-Salem, with Archie Foltz, Norman Jarrard, John Smith, J. R. Harrison, and Oscar Tesh on the Board of Aldermen."

What! More headlines! The Lawrence Sisters are bringing their Mammoth Mirth Circus to town. That picture looks familiar; Janet Crews, the bareback rider; and the lion tamer, why it's Oscar Caudle! The trapeze artists, Bobby Scales and Wilma Baker, are wonderful.

Here's the Journal's famous Lovelorn Column written by L. J. Coward. Excellent advice, too!

Hmm—Allen Jones' select school for Girls closes tomorrow. Spanish professor, Joe Jones, and Riding Master, S. V. Smith will be glad for a vacation. Millicent Crews, the dean of women, is going to Hollywood to visit Betty Sue Long, who's making good in pictures.

The opening for the the new Marie Hege Dress Shoppe is set for tomorrow, too, Annette Vaughn is manager, and the famous Tennyson Jones Models, Margaret Cude, Annie Mae Potts and Virginia Denny will be featured. Audrey Hampton fills the capacity of head designer. Special invitations have been received by Mrs. Cecil Messick, Mrs. Martin Seawell, Mrs. Edsel Brown, and Mrs. Dennis Hailey.

Now for the the "Personals." Archeologist Bill Hutchins has returned from another trip to "them thar hills." James Foster, Sports editor of The New York Times, is recovering from a tooth extraction by dentist, Dorothy Anderson. Clara Harris and Elsie Williard have just returned from their annual trip to Florida. Grace Kelly, well known lecturer, will talk tomorrow night on "How I Became Famous." Doris Grubbs is returning to New York after a short visit in her home town. She is author of the play "Marriage Be My Destiny" starring Kitty Sink. Ski champs, Nina Mae Hodges, and Carolyn Ernest are leaving in the morning for Sun Valley. Margaret Rule, local bank president, has as her guests Charlotte Snider, Margaret Vaden, and Bernice Goforth. Laura Groce will be guest story teller for Joe Masten's Kindergarten tomorrow at 3:30. Lloyd Smith, honorary president of the Street Cleaner's Society, has called a meeting of the Broom Committee, including Rudolph Brendle, J. A. Fouts, Kenneth Edwards, and J. R. Gordon.

"Sheek Fan Club Meets." That's the fan club for heavyweight champion, Robert Sheek! Bill McGee is president, and other members are Charlotte Merritt, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Williard, Jane McGee, and Mr. and Mrs. John Holleman.

Here's an interesting advertisement! What a stunning hat! Designed by "Bolo" Pardue, too, featuring the New Baseball Bat Feather! These creations may be had only at Milady's Hat Shop, owned by Hugh Dyson.

Mary Motsinger's "Kitchen Kolumn" features Mrs. Carl Seagraves' recipe for peach-fudge-flop. Other contributors are the former Betty Atkinson, Thelma Jarvis, and Dorothy Settle.

"Reception For Crooner Held." Jesse Atwood, modern Frank Swoonatra, was honored recently at a reception given by Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Fort, the former being his manager. Among the guests were Ray Andrews, Rachel Wooten, Hazel Baynes, and Clinard Norris. Donald Lashmit and Katherine Littleton presided at the punch bowl. These people make up the band that accompanies Jesse.

Curt Bovender, Principal at Gray, announces that Betty Harris will speak to the students there tomorrow morning in assembly.

Mary Lee Baity, superintendent of nurses, has added to her staff at Whitney Hospital, Opal Cardwell, Margaret Hedrick, and Doris Willard, as nurses. Tula McMasters and Ruth Mills are laboratory technicians, with Inez Poore as dietitian.

Dorothy Conrad's "Bedtime Stories for Little Brats" with a preface by C. L. Kimball, noted Psychologist, is quite popular; also, "Sophronia's Heartbreak" by Betty Byrd.

Betty McGee, Mary Atwood, Sara Smith, and Frances Stewart are members of the All American Lady Wrestlers, Doris Martin—tennis champion.

Blueshouse Gus, by Robert Birke, drawn by Arvella Brown, highlights the comic strips.

Charles Brunt and Bob Bell entertain nightly on the Kimel Hair Tonic Serenade.

Civic Music presents our own Metropolitan Opera stars, Mickie Ashburn and Johnny Albea; next week, Betty Cook.

Doris Alrige's Ballet Troupe with Margaret Vaughn, Dwaine Windsor, and Allen Wooten will be here soon.
Virginia Newman's Swing Band is also listed. "Swingeroos" are Ruby Phillips, Marie Reavis, Margaret Huffman and Wanda Hayes.

"Believe it or not." The former Betty Fishel's husband is usually behind bars! Don't be alarmed! He's a bank teller.

After reading the paper from cover to cover, the question of the Senior Class is adequately answered. This class will never really be lost, for such folks will always headline the news.

GRAY HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 1944

Margaret Hedrick

Green Freshmen? That's exactly what we were when we entered Gray High School way back in the year 1940, when tires weren't just a souvenir. The school looked large and different from the grammar schools we hailed from, but we were glad for the chance to start with a clean slate and make new records.
Robert Sheek was the first member from our class to hold a student organization office. He was elected to be assistant secretary of the school.

We began our sophomore year as an organized group with Mr. Theodore Griffin, as sponsor. Curt Bovender, Letty Harris, Barbara Langley, and Felix Long were chosen as our class officers for the year.

In '42 people pointed us out as the jolly juniors. We elected to be our class leaders: Betty Harris, president; John Scalf, vice-president; Betty Bodenhamer, secretary; Bill Johnson, treasurer. Miss Ruth Meinung was sponsor of the junior class.

Many of our classmates held jobs as superintendents of departments in the school organization. Curt Bovender and Betty Smith, from the junior class, were chosen by the school to be vice-president and treasurer, respectively.

That year we sponsored the play
"American Passport" so that we might give the seniors the long talked about Junior-Senior at the Robert E. Lee Hotel.

Our class was well represented in dramatics with Betty Harris and Charles Brunt on the debating teams that won the triangular debates. Janet Crews won the Kiwanis cup, with Betty Sides as runner-up. Bill Carruthers and Lucille Lawrence also took honors by being

Betty Hayes, Betty Bodenhamer, and Billy Hutchins were inducted into the Quill and Scroll. Members from the junior class who were inducted into the National Honor Society were Janet Crews, Texie Childress, Barbara Langley, Annette Vaughn, Betty Hayes, Marie Hege, Dorothy Anderson, Curt Bovender, Doris Willard, Mary Mot-singer, Dorothy Wooten, L. J. Coward, Grace Kelly, Betty Harris, and Margaret Hedrick.

At last the appointed time came when we, as dignified seniors, took as our assembly seats the first rows in the auditorium. From our senior class came the two school presidents, Betty Harris and Curt Bovender. Bettie Sides turned over her job as secretary of the school to Janet Crews the second semester.

Four seniors that year became members of the National Honor Society. They were Frances Scott, Sara Manion, Maxine Everhart, and Norma Whitney. Curt Bovender, Betty Hayes, L. J. Coward, Dorothy Wooten were elected officers for the organization. Janet Crews, Bettie Sides, and Millicent Crews were chosen by the Masque and Gavel to head their group.

Miss Fanny Mecum was senior sponsor and other teachers having senior homerooms were Mrs. Virginia Sherrill, Mrs. Carrie Mae Allgood, and Miss Clara Tiller. Class officers were president, L. J. Coward; vice-president, S. V. Smith; secretary, Betty Bodenhamer; treasurer, Millicent Crews; assistant secretary, Betty Smith.

Bettie Sides was elected to be our D. A. R. representative.

Section 2. Sara Manion leaves her dignity to Mary Jane Johnson.

Section 3. Katsy Wagner bequeaths her books to Peggy Baucom.

Section 4. David Charles wills his ability to play a trumpet to J. R. Jones.

Section 5. Lois Huffman and Mary Crim bestow their neatness upon Peggy Carter and Willie Faire Swink.

Section 6. To Shirley Carter, Joyce Hutchins bequeaths her ambition to become the first woman president of the United States.

Section 7. Dorothy Baynes wills the remaining drops in her bottle of peroxide—if there are any left—to H. A. Tesh.

Section 8. Allen Jones bequeaths his six foot casonova frame to Tommy Sheek.

Section 9. To Doris Lee Hege, Phyllis Taylor wills her witty marks.

Section 10. Donavee Collier leaves to Douglas Carter her "jitten" ability.

Section 11. To Dorothy Klutz and Peggy Dillon, Frances Jean Scott and Bessie Hutchins will their ability to pull together.

Section 12. Louisa Comer wills her ability to get things done to "Red" Hinshaw.

Section 13. Wilhelmina Spach bequeaths her light blond hair to Rachel Holcomb.

Section 14. Betty Bodenhamer bestows those "come hither" baby blue eyes to Eugene Birke.

TODAY...

As you graduate, you are stepping from a world made of dreams into a grim world of flowing blood and agony. But this pain, misery and slaughter will pass. Peace will come again.

Then, it will be the destiny of you, the rising generation, to be big enough and brave enough to lead the world to a higher conception of life, to the end that never again will the world be drenched in human blood.

In the years to come, when you pick up this book and turn the pages of youth's memories, may you know in your heart that you have not broken faith with the youth and motherhood of generations to come.

HANES PROPHECY OF THE CLASS OF 1944

I, being a solemn and wise prophet, shall reveal to you the fortune of the 1944 June Graduating Class of Hanes High School, who will soon pass out of this toilsome mill to take their places in a topsy-turvy world. I shall roll back the curtains of the invisible world, and prophesy to you the future of each of these young men and women. It is of my opinion that they are quite fearless, and I might even say brave to look down the vista of things to be. For that reason I shall hasten to relieve their anxious hearts of this curiosity by the means of my mystifying power.

Within the crystal ball there stirs a tumult. Is it possible that the destinies of these class members are not predictable? Ah, yes, now I see. Listen, and it shall be prophesied to you!

It is thirty years hence on the day of June 33. The setting seems to be a river in Alaska. Behold! Who is this I see? Yes, it is Margaret McAbee and Archie Sebastian, who have become fabulously wealthy in the salmon industry. At this time I see them paddling down the Alaskan Gulf in a canoe. Such canoeing!

As the scene progresses, I see Margaret and Archie take their little boat, full of fish, up to the pier. Here the salmon are dumped, and Talmadge Leach and Harry Russell load them into Joe Hege's surry, which is still yellow with age. Joe, whose job it is to haul the fish up to the packing house, seems to have solved the fuel problem of some years back, for now, this little vehicle glides along smoothly with the aid of Salmon Liver Oil.

On arrival at the cannery, I find Byerly Vanhoy, Lillian Hutchins, and Frances Moore are fish inspectors, with Betsy Ross Dority, Bob Chilton, and Betty Kates manipulating packing machines for the poor suckers. That is, the fish. I can now see Erleen Hall, and Fay Lee Clark skillfully pitching each little can into boxes, and in turn, Elaine Rierson and Alan Barnes are throwing the boxes on the ship for exportation. Can I believe my eyes? Up on the deck I see the ship's captain, J. G. McKenzie, reclining in all his glory amid the flurry of swaying fans proceeding from the hands of six dazzling damsels. Upon closer inspection, I discover that these are Edith Hamlin, Ruby Reid, Marie Cromer, Marilyn Miller, Geraldine Chapman, and Margie Lineback.

It amazes me to discover that they are exporting passengers on this ship along with the fish. But, sure enough, there are Hilda Adams, Mary Nell Sheets, and Mary Nell Duncan, who are on a house wives vacation. They are watching Donald McGee, Richard Carper, Baxter Phillips, and Bill Talbert, who are engaged in a thrilling game of tiddley-winks. Below deck I find Mildred Blevins and Frances Payne, now beauty operators, at the pool's edge cheering Steve Sheek, Alwyne Richards, Charles Pearce, and Richrad Gentle, who are playing a rousing game of water polo.

On the other side of the pool are George Binkley, Betty Love, and Lawrence Harrington discussing the vocations of old schoolmates. They appear a little non-plussed by Tommy Cox's mathematical theory that  $2X2=8$ . They are also surprised by the fact that Edith Anderson and Shirley Mays are Candidates for President and Vice-President on the Femonatic Party ticket. Tink Hall, who is also an object for discussion by this group, and who was the former Hanes High athlete, is now the water boy for the Golden Dragons. His pal, "Jeep" Snyder, is running a candy store in Australia. He named it the "Kangaroo Kandy Kounter, and it's reported that his business is simply jumping.

As the group chats thus, the water polo game is finished, and the Woman's Olympic fancy diving champion, Helen Brewer, comes gliding out. The man with her, paparently her manager, is Oscar Conrad. It seems he is very experienced where "dives" are concerned. Another of her fans is Dr. Earl Sandefur, A. B., B. S., L. S.-M. F. T., and D. D. S.

Alas! The crystal ball suddenly becomes cloudy, and it seems as if I can predict no more to you. But wait, it begins to clear, and I see a large office building made solely of glass. On the fourth floor is a large luxurious office, which belongs to Bradley Brooks, the world famous psychiatrist. His office nurse, Dot Landingham, has just brought in two patients. One is Betty Conder. She is an Italian house-wife, and she seems to have got "off the beam" trying to make Italian spaghetti. The other, Bill Sprinkle, turns out to be a bill collector, whose last resort in seeing the doctor to collect his bill was to pose as a patient.

We follow Mr. Sprinkle as he leaves the office, exultant over his victory. I see him go down stairs to a grill to get his lunch. Going into the grill, we hear "January, February, or March", the song of the day, which was written by a current orchestra leader, Ed Woody. The "Four Coffees and a Sugar," the best known songsters of the day, are taking the vocal. They are Leonard Bagen, Gray Tucker, James Maners, William Queen, and the "Sugar" is none other than Jeanette Worrell.

The hostess of the grill, Winifred McBride, interrupts our listening to introduce Bill to the great linguist, Peggy Meadows. However, they realize they have known each other before in high school, so we leave them as they start discussing school "daze".

And now the crystal ball brings another scene into view. On the island of Tarawa, there is a large Colonial American home. As I get a glimpse of the inside, I see one of my old friends, Barbara Alley, who is married to a retired Naval officer. She is reading one of those blood-curdling mystery stories which now appear in the foremost monthly detective magazines. These thrillers are conjured up by those two master journalists, Edith Snipes and Eleanor Tuttle. (Small wonder the stories scare people.) Beside her lies one of the classics of the day, "Two Worlds", written by Jean and Jo Shelton, which has obviously been discarded in favor of the "thriller".

At this point, Barbara's reading is interrupted by her maid, whom I recognize at once as Betty Lou Self. She is presenting a guest, Sybil Stutts, who has just arrived from Shanghai, where she lives with her husband. From the course of the conversation, I gather that there is to be a week-end party, and such guests as the Chief of the International Police, Kent Bennett, and the famous actor, Bill Markland, will be present. Other guests who have not yet arrived are Frances Higgins, the American Envoy to France; and the heavy weight boxing champion of the world, Robert Boyles. The hostess is quite perturbed over the fact that Marvin Walker, noted shoe-shine boy of the United States, has lost his "polish", and will be unable to attend the party. However, he's sending one of his friends, the one and only famous tobacco auctioneer of Goldsboro, N. C., Joe Wilson.

Well, what is this? Another change of scene takes place. This time, it is back to the United States, and the exclusive Ray's Dress Shoppe on Fifth Avenue. A large part of Jean's success is due Carroll Williams, her dress designer, and Juanita Harrington, Thelma Owens, Nancy Payne, and Edna Cheek, who are lovely models in her employ.

Virginia Harvey and Mary Wooten are just leaving the dress shop, and they stroll on down the avenue until they reach the famous "Swan Club", where they are greeted by the owner, Lester Branson. However, their greetings are very brief, because Joe Hayes, the crooner of the day, begins singing "Scat, Scat, Cat". At their table, Virginia and Mary see the pent-house wife, Rosa Mae Hayes. The girls are very excited because there is a fortune teller in the club today. After much ado, they all go back to see what the future brings. As they near the booth, they discover an old classmate, Betty Weatherman. What's this? The crystal ball is playing tricks on me. Imagine, me as a fortune teller! Why, I could never predict anything.

HANES HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 1944

In the fall of the year 1940, we started out on our high school journey at John W. Hanes High School. Probably the most outstanding and confusing problem that first confronted us was the system of student government. As our first year of high school life came to a close, we had begun to settle down and take an interest in the many new and different activities that a high school offers its students. We envied our older schoolmates because they took part in the many different clubs and organizations which we would have liked to have been members of, but couldn't.

Our sophomore year was gone before we realized it. Several of our members began taking active roles in sports, dramatics, and the various other clubs and organizations of our school. We became accustomed to the regular Monday morning assemblies which each home-room sponsored at some time during the year. After two years at Hanes, I think that all of us would say that we were having a grand time, and though we ran into a few difficulties now and then, we progressed fairly well along the road to better knowledge.

Our junior year had many outstanding events in it with the high light falling on the Junior-Senior Dance, which we sponsored in the form of a barn dance at our gym. Our members really began to shine in the many different activities at school this year. The National Honor Society inducted the following members of our class into its membership: Hilda Adams, Mary Nell Duncan, Edith Snipes, Bill Markland, Bill Talbert, and Earl Sandefur. The Quill and Scroll took the following people: Eleanor Tuttle, Edith Anderson, Edith Snipes, and Betty Weatherman. Several of our classmates represented us on the basketball team which captured the State Class "B" Title for the third consecutive year. They were also crowned city champs. Our baseball team, not to be outdone, also won the State Class "B" championship. This was the first time in the history of our school that we had won this honor. As June rolled around, we were looking forward to the next year when we would be seniors. We lost two of our teachers to the armed forces, with the Marines claiming Mr. R. F. Johnston, and Mr. H. M. Jernigan going to the Navy.

In our senior year we found some grand leaders among our group, and they have shown the way for some fine improvements around the school. Among the best of these was the turning of the storage room into a recreation room.

Tink Hall was elected mayor, and Lawrence Harrington served as judge. Our senior class officers were: President, Joe Hege; Vice-president, Lawrence Harrington; Secretary, Frances Moore; and Treasurer, Hilda Adams. Miss Dungan and Miss Sharp were our class sponsors. Our debating team was composed of these four outstanding seniors: Joe Wilson, Jo Shelton, Besty Dority, and Donald McGee. Hilda Adams was given the D. A. R. award, and Earl Sandefur was presented a service monogram shortly before leaving for the Army in January. Earl Sandefur, Betty Weatherman, Bob Chilton, Edith Snipes, Edythe Anderson, Eleanor Tuttle, Jean and Jo Shelton, Betty Love, Helen Brewer, Margaret McAbee, and Frances Moore served on the newspaper staff. Members of the Black and Gold staff are: Betty Weatherman, Edith Snipes, and Eleanor Tuttle. Edythe Anderson was elected as Editor-in-Chief of the annual. Marvin Hall and Earl Sandefur went to the boy's state at Chapel Hill. Mary Nell Duncan, Edith Anderson and Hilda Adams attended girl's state at Greensboro. Two new clubs were formed by the seniors this year; one was the Presidents Forum Club, which consisted of the president of each of the various other clubs of the school. Their duty was to meet and talk over the different problems of their particular club. The Junior Council Club was the second to be organized this year. The members of this club planned dances and social events of the school. Both of these clubs helped with many improvements around the school during the year.

As we go forward toward graduation, some with anticipation and others with regret, we look back over our school life and now realize just what it does mean to us. It brings back many happy thoughts and cherished moments that can never be lived over again. Mixed with these, of course, are some of the sad moments of life. All in all, though, we have really had a happy time in school, and our only wish is that those who follow may have just as happy a time as we had. We cannot give our teachers at John W. Hanes High enough credit and thanks for their cooperation and the help that they have so generously given us during our high school careers.

HANES LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF THE CLASS OF 1944

We, the Senior Class of John W. Hanes High School, City of Winston-Salem, being of sound mind, and good health, do therefore declare this to be our Last Will and Testament.

After all our incomplete grades have been turned in, and grievances settled, we leave:

First: To Mr. Haltiwanger, Miss Dungan, Miss Sharp, and all the faculty, we extend our sincere thanks for their guiding hand through our four years of fruitful education.

Second: Marilyn Miller leaves her quiet ways to Jackie Edwards, in hopes that they will be used to a good advantage.

Third: Margaret McAbee, "Ert" Moore, and "Chig" Sheets leave their inseparable companionship to Mary Louise Shields, Mary Lou Sandefur, and Betty Lou Hall.

Fourth: Jean and Jo Shelton leave their identical features to Marion and Hunter Phillips, to let people know that they too, are twins.

Fifth: Byerly Vanhoy and Carroll Williams leave their height to H. D. Buckner, whose ambition is to become five feet tall.

Sixth: Betty Love and Lawrence Harrington leave the memories of their love affair to Bill Whitlow and Lettie June Vernon. Here's hoping theirs will turn out all right.

Seventh: Marie Cromer and Betty Weatherman leave their ways with the men to Ruth Morgan, in hopes that she succeeds as they did.

Eighth: The National Honor Society leaves two robes for Mike Bowles and Estelle Southern, while the Dramatics Club leaves all its talent to whom ever deems themselves worthy of the honor.

Ninth: Frances Payne and Tink Hall leave their athletic ability to Jimmy Abernathy and Mary Beth Markland — wishing them the best of luck.

Tenth: Joe Hege wills his lemon-lacquered limosine to George Blanton in exchange for his Buick. Being a good sport, Joe is asking nothing to boot. We appoint Mr. W. Reid Staton, our friend and coach, as Executor of this, our Last Will and Testament.

In witness whereof we have affixed our seal, this thirty-first day of May, in the year of our Lord, nineteen hundred and forty four.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

See those people in the pictures up there? No, of course they aren't candidates for city dog catcher! They're the senior class officers. That first fellow is Tom Chambers; he's the president. Want to know about Tom? Well, if you can, read on: Senor Chambers is one of Mr. Ward's 12SL-ers. In case you were dead during football season, here's the way Tom played tackle for the Black Demons—he was named on the all-conference team and all-state first team. He was also co-captain of the footballers and is now playing outfield for the Demon baseball nine. Well, naturally, as a result of this athletic endeavor, he is a member of the Monogram Club, in which he has been president and one thing and another. This fellow ("with a wonderful physique," screams our secretary) is also a member of the Senior Hi-Y and a chief usher in the Ushers Club.

Well, you see that second guy? He's Lee Smith, the senior's vice-president. Like his physiognomy (his features, illiterate one)? So do the seniors; Lee was elected Best Looking Boy in the senior class. 12A, Miss Hazel Stephenson's homeroom, claims him and so do the Monogram Club and the Senior Hi-Y. If you're wondering about how he got into the Monogram Club, it's due to his continued activity as guard on the RJR varsity eleven. Track takes up Lee's time in the spring.

It's really too bad that the next picture up there couldn't be a moving picture. The person in question is Anne Southern, who is so animated and full of pep that a still picture jes' doesn't do 'er justice! Well, anyhow, the reason she's up there is that she's the senior class secretary. She's also secretary of the College Club and a member of the Girl Reserves and the House of Representatives. All this, by the way, is a product of Miss Pauline Whitley's 12L2 homeroom.

Either you've seen a picture of that next girl before or you've been a visitor in Morganton since September. Oh!—well, welcome back, and how was Morganton? Why that's Helen Gordon, treasurer of the senior class. The almighty twelfth graders also named her Historian, Girl Most Likely To Succeed, and their D. A. R. representative. The students made Helen managing editor of the Pine Whispers, president of the Quill and Scroll, and a member of the Honor Society. By one way or another she got into the Girl Reserves and Miss Mary Wiley's 12L1.

Well, there they are—the senior's pin-ups.

Reynolds High School Office

Miss Doris Voss, secretary to the principal, big sister to the school, leans luxuriously back in her chaise lounge, while the French maid answers the office phone, wondering lazily, "For Whom the Bell Tolls". Dainty little pages leave the quiet office to board the elevator which takes them smoothly to the twentieth floor. Mr. Joyner makes the chapel announcements through his public speaker, while dear old Pauline Templeton puts the A. W. O. L.'s, and ten day leaves in the automatic file. A page is quietly serving lemonade to the students lounging in the comfortable chairs under the teachers' boxes, and the grandfather clock ticks slowly, stopping to rest a minute every now and then. Lunch time finds the office in its usual peaceful stage since students take to the student variety room where one finds most everything from the crowded soda fountain to the rows of student telephones which lead conspicuously to the P2 room, (peculiar pastimes).

Yes, folks, that may be the future, but get a load of the present! Miss Voss certainly isn't lounging in any comfortable chair and no French maid answers the phone with a hearty "Bonjour." Instead of A. W. O. L.'s and ten day leaves, the little slips which Pauline files are mainly pink. (You know what they are!) Thank Heavens there isn't a twentieth floor but even with four floors, the office pages think we need an elevator. It is still necessary for Mr. Joyner to climb the stage steps in order to make announcements. And the chairs under the teachers' boxes are still as ever. Even though the chairs in Mr. Joyner's office are comfortable, you won't notice it when you're sitting in them. As for the lunch period—let's not try to go into that; we couldn't anyway. Of course, there isn't a long line of telephones, but there's a mighty long telephone line. And our "Lost and Found", interesting place, holds everything from The Lost Chord to the other half of The Unfinished Symphony.

Truly, folks, we love our office and its loyal inhabitants, and may they rest (joke) there peacefully for many future years in hopes that their sweet dreams of modernization will come true.
